High March PSHE and Relationships Education Policy

Introduction

High March's approach to Personal, Social, Health and Economic (PSHE) education, which includes Relationships Education, reflects the school's aims and ethos. It prepares pupils for the contemporary world and enhances a sense of their cultural identity, whilst fostering positive attitudes and encouraging respect for other people, paying particular regard to the protected characteristics set out in the Equality Act (2010). These are Age, Disability, Gender, Gender reassignment, Marriage and civil partnership, Pregnancy and maternity, Race, Religion or belief or Sexual orientation.

PSHE and Relationships Education offers children the opportunity to become confident, healthy, independent and responsible citizens. It is important for pupils to learn about themselves as developing and changing individuals and to encourage them to play a positive role in contributing to the life of the school and the wider community. It helps to develop the children's knowledge, skills and attributes they need to manage their lives, to stay healthy and safe, now and in the future. Our Relationships Education programme is an integral part of our whole school PSHE education provision.

The School recognises its responsibility to promote the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of its pupils. To embrace the challenges of creating a happy and successful adult life, pupils need knowledge that will enable them to make informed decisions about their wellbeing, health and relationships and to build their self-efficacy. Pupils can also put this knowledge into practice as they develop the capacity to make sound decisions when facing risks, challenges and complex contexts. Everyone faces difficult situations in their lives. PSHE and relationships education can support young people to develop resilience, to know how and when to ask for help, and to know where to access support.

This Policy takes into account the DfE statutory guidance 'Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education' (June 2019). It has been developed in line with the PSHE Association guidance and following consultation with the Directors, Headmistress and staff and communication with the parent and pupil body. It is also underpinned by the stated school aim that High March promotes a Christian ethos and Christian values, whilst respecting other faiths and traditions, but remains non-denominational in its admissions policy and teaching. Each individual is encouraged to develop friendly and informal relationships within a structured and disciplined routine.

Aims

'PSHE education equips pupils with the knowledge, understanding, skills and strategies required to live healthy, safe, productive, capable, responsible and balanced lives. It encourages them to be enterprising and supports them in making effective transitions, positive learning and career choices and in achieving economic wellbeing. A critical component of PSHE education is providing opportunities for children and young people to reflect on and clarify their own values and attitudes and explore the complex and sometimes conflicting range of values and attitudes they encounter now and in the future.

PSHE education contributes to personal development by helping pupils to build their confidence, resilience and self-esteem, and to identify and manage risk, make informed choices and understand what influences their decisions. It enables them to recognise, accept and shape their identities, to understand and accommodate difference and change, to manage emotions and to communicate constructively in a variety of settings. Developing an understanding of themselves, empathy and the ability to work with others will help pupils to form and maintain good relationships, develop the essential skills for future employability and better enjoy and manage their lives.' (PSHE Association)

The aims of PSHE at High March are to help the children to:

- develop the knowledge, skills and understanding to lead confident, healthy, independent lives and to become informed, active, responsible citizens
- have an awareness of the British values of Democracy, the rule of law, Individual liberty, Mutual Respect and tolerance of those with different religions and beliefs, and what it means to live in this country today
- understand, respect and live by the School Values of kindness and friendship
- build a resilience to radicalisation and to be able to identify and challenge extremist views
- recognise their own self-worth, work well with others and become increasingly responsible for their own learning and actions
- encourage discussion and debate whilst ensuring that teachers' personal opinions do not lead to a biased viewpoint
- develop strategies to support good mental health and a sense of wellbeing
- reflect on their own experiences and understand how they are developing personally and socially
- Talk about the lives of people around them and their roles in society
- understand and respect our common humanity, diversity and differences
- form effective, fulfilling and respectful relationships
- be aware of acceptable and unacceptable actions in relationship to themselves and others
- become independent and responsible members of the school and wider community
- become positive and active members of a democratic society
- tackle many of the spiritual, moral, social and cultural issues that are all part of growing up
- Show resilience and perseverance in the face of challenge
- Manage their own needs
- enjoy learning the subject

The aim of Relationships Education is to put in place the key building blocks of healthy, respectful relationships, focusing on family and friendships, in all contexts, including online. This will sit alongside the essential understanding of how to be healthy, both physically, emotionally and mentally. Through the provision of high quality, evidence-based and age-appropriate teaching, the school aims to prepare pupils for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of adolescence and adult life. It seeks to provide a safe and stimulating environment which, in partnership with parents and the wider community, will enable pupils to learn about moral, physical and emotional development.

This starts with pupils being taught about:

- what a relationship is (developing positive relationships, including online)
- what friendship is (promoting healthy friendships)
- what family means and who the people are who can support them
- how to take turns
- how to treat themselves and others with kindness, consideration and respect
- the importance of honesty and truthfulness
- positive emotional and mental wellbeing
- permission seeking and giving and the concept of personal privacy
- establishing personal space and boundaries, showing respect and understanding
- the differences between appropriate and inappropriate or unsafe physical, and other, contact (these are the forerunners of teaching about consent, which takes place at secondary)

Through Relationships Education, we teach pupils the knowledge they need to recognise and to report abuse, including emotional, physical and sexual abuse. This focuses on boundaries and privacy, ensuring young people understand that they have rights over their own bodies. This also includes understanding boundaries in friendships with peers and also in families and with others, in all contexts, including online. Pupils are taught how to report concerns and seek advice when they suspect or know that something is wrong. At all stages we balance teaching children about making sensible decisions to stay safe (including online) whilst being clear it is never the fault of a child who is abused and why victim blaming is always wrong. These subjects complement Health Education and as part of a comprehensive programme and whole school approach, this knowledge can support safeguarding of children.

Roles and Responsibility

The Headmistress

- To be responsible for ensuring that PSHE and Relationships Education is taught consistently across the school.

Heads of Upper School/Junior House/Deputy Head (Teaching and Learning)

- To monitor the efficacy and impact of the PSHE and Relationships Education curriculum
- To help fulfil the aims of the PSHE and Relationships Education policy by embedding them in the wider curriculum and daily school life

PSHE Head of Department

- To lead the PSHE and Relationships Education curriculum and keep abreast of developments
- To support members of staff in the delivery of the subject
- To review and update the Policy on an annual basis and in line with DfE and ISI requirements

Form Teachers

- To deliver PSHE and Relationships Education in a sensitive way
- To model positive attitudes to PSHE and Relationships Education
- To monitor pupil progress
- To regularly meet pupils in Form Teacher 'Tutorials' (See below)
- To respond to the needs of individual pupils and ensure that all pupils are able to participate fully in lessons regardless of ability or special educational needs and/or disability
- To ensure that they remain impartial when discussing personal, political or religious beliefs so their attitudes do not influence their teaching

Pupils

- To engage fully in PSHE and Relationships Education and, when discussing issues related to these subjects, treat others with respect and sensitivity

Parents

- To support the school's approach to PSHE and Relationships Education
- To help their children cope with the emotional and physical aspects of growing up, taking into account their physical and mental wellbeing
- To support the development of their child's understanding of relationships

Procedures

Relationships Education is not taught in isolation. It is rooted in our PSHE programme, and the Science curriculum and it is supported by the school's ethos. Lessons are accessible to all pupils including those with special educational needs and disabilities. PSHE is taught as a timetabled lesson at High March from Years 1 to 6 and is delivered by form teachers. All classes have one 30-minute lesson per week. In Foundation Stage it is incorporated throughout all lessons, often linking to our school core values of 'Kindness and Friendship'. There are cross curricular links in Religious Studies, Science, Physical Education, assemblies and Circle time.

Form Teacher 'Tutorials'

It is important for children to have opportunities to speak regularly about pastoral issues. As of October 2021, form staff at Upper School select two children to stay behind during Tuesday Hymn Practice for a 'Tutorial'. In a Tutorial, pupils meet and talk with their form teacher. It is a good opportunity for pupils to talk and staff to ask about school, home, friendships and other pastoral matters. There may be times when specific children are invited to attend a Tutorial, based on pastoral needs, but form teachers will see every child at least once each term.

Children are also able to request a tutorial, if they feel it necessary. Teachers will record notes from the tutorial on 'Engage'.

Delivery

All form tutors are familiar with this policy and the syllabus and will be prepared to support pupils and answer direct questions as appropriate. The School is committed to employing active learning methods which involve pupils' full participation. It is essential that we help pupils develop confidence in talking, listening and thinking about relationships. Ground rules will be established with each class before Relationships Education lessons to create a safe environment for both teacher and pupils.

Dealing with questions

Children of the same age may be developmentally at different stages, leading to different types of questions or behaviours. Some questions may be better dealt with on a one-to-one or small group basis, rather than the whole class. Teachers will be supported and prepared for the unexpected, for example:

- the ground rules should be referred to if a question is too personal
- if a teacher does not know the answer to a question, they should acknowledge this and research it later
- question boxes may be used so pupils may ask a question without having to do so publicly
- if a teacher feels that a question is too explicit, is too advanced for a pupil, is inappropriate for the whole class or raises any safeguarding concerns, the teacher should acknowledge the question and deal with it on an individual basis. The teacher will inform parents about any issue or question that he/she feels needs to be followed up at home unless that matter raises safeguarding concerns when advice will first be sought from the DSL
- if a teacher is concerned that a child has disclosed any matter which raises a safeguarding concern, they should follow the school's Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy and make a report to the DSL immediately

Staff members are aware that views around Relationships Education issues are varied. However, while personal views are respected, all issues are taught without bias using KAPOW Primary. Topics are presented using a variety of views and beliefs so that pupils are able to form their own, informed opinions but also respect that others have the right to a different opinion.

Right to Withdraw

In line with the DfE guidance, there is no right for parents to withdraw their child from Relationship Education or Health Education (which includes learning about the changing adolescent body and puberty).

Curriculum and Design

Leading on from the EYFS framework, the KS1 and KS2 curriculum provision for PSHE (see Appendix 2) adopts a whole school approach and is based around three core themes:

- Health and Wellbeing
- Relationships
- Living in the wider world

Opportunities to cover the Programme of Study include:

- Discrete curriculum time of a regular PSHE lesson
- Relationship Education programme
- Teaching PSHE through and in other subjects/curriculum areas
- PSHE activities and school events
- Pupil Council
- Responsible Use Policy for Pupils
- SMSC policy
- Sustainability teams (Eco Committee and JRSOs) to promote green issues
- Assemblies and church services
- Charity work
- Trips and outings
- Line leaders, book monitors and other pupil jobs within the form group
- Links with the local community, external agencies and a range of visitors

A whole school approach is effective because pupils' personal and social development is influenced by many aspects of school life. The provision for PSHE will therefore play a central part in the cycle of whole school curriculum planning and development.

Early Years Provision

PSHE is embedded in all that we do. We fulfil the objectives set out in the Early Years Framework and the relevant aspects support the aim of developing a child's personal, emotional and social development as set out in the framework. Citizenship education is also supported in the Reception classes where the children are encouraged to develop their 'knowledge and understanding of the world'.

Safeguarding and Confidentiality

The best interests of the child are our main concern. Children have a right to expect school to be a safe and secure environment. Teachers need to be aware that effective Relationships Education can lead to disclosures from pupils, often unintentionally, that raise child protection concerns. Key points to be aware of are:

1. The school has in place a Safeguarding and Child Protection policy and a Confidentiality policy
2. Teachers can never offer or guarantee unconditional confidentiality
3. Any visitor from an outside agency involved with pupils in Relationships Education will be made aware of the confidentiality rules and whom to approach on the staff with concerns.

Assessment

There are two broad areas for assessment in PSHE and Relationships Education:

1. Pupils' knowledge and understanding, for example, information on health, understanding of rules, understanding of health and safety procedures, and the meaning of ideas including democracy.
2. How well children can use their knowledge and understanding in developing skills and attitudes, for example through participating in discussions, group tasks and activities, managing conflict, making decisions and promoting positive relationships. Clearly defined learning outcomes assist the assessment process.

In addition, we use the GL Pupil Attitudes to Self and School (PASS) survey to help us understand our pupil's attitudes to themselves and to learning and identify pupils in need of further support. PASS identifies a child's perceived learning capability, enabling us to respond to self-esteem issues and address potential barriers to learning by putting in place appropriate interventions.

Vocabulary

It is important to outline the correct terms and vocabulary used within PSHE and Relationships Education lessons to ensure continuity at school and home. The vocabulary list (appendix 3) is broken down into Year groups. Having the correct terminology is an important tool for children which enables them to express themselves properly. Children should not use vocabulary that is inaccurate or offensive. There are many words surrounding the PSHE and Relationships curriculum that may have negative connotations or be misunderstood by pupils. We encourage children to always use the correct terminology and encourage parents to reinforce this at home.

Monitoring

PSHE and Relationships Education is monitored and reviewed annually by the Head of Department and Senior Leadership Team. Staff across High March meet regularly to review and discuss developments relating to the PSHE and Relationships Education curriculum.

Legislation

This policy bears due regard to the following statutory guidance and documents:

- DfE Statutory guidance 'Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education Relationships Education and Health Education' (June 2019)
- Education Act (2002)
- DfE 'Mental Health and Behaviour in Schools' (November 2018)
- Education and Inspections Act (2006)
- Equality Act (2010)
- Supplementary Guidance SRE for the 21st century (2014)
- Keeping Children Safe in Education – Statutory safeguarding guidance (2021)
